FIRE HORROR.

Several Lives Lost by the Burning of a Convent School.

Some of the Sisters Had to Leap From Windows and Were Fatally Hurt.

NYACK, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Four lives were lost by the burning of the St. Agnes convent for children, five miles south of here, early this morning. Four sisters jumped from windows, receiving fatal injuries, and two will probably die. The four who jumped remained too long and the flames cut off their escape by way of the stairs. The following is a partial list of the dead and injured:

Dead—Theresa Murphy, 16, burned; Jane, servant, 72, burned; Helen Brown, 6, died of fright; Emma Macken, 4, same.

Injured—Sister Ignatius, concussion of spine, badly burned, may die; Sister Marie, concussion of spine, probably fatally burned; Sister Agnes, may die; Sister Herman, concussion of spine; Sister Cordelia, arm broken; Sister Carolina, same; Sister Sienna, shock; Hanna Shea, inmate, 12, hip broken.

The fire at the third floor. Nearly 300 occupants were in the rooms on this floor, and the dormitories were lighted with kerosene lamps. There is little doubt that the fire was caused by the explosion of one of these lamps. It spread rapidly. At the time of the discovery the fire had made such progress that the sisters could not awaken the hundreds of children in their care, marshal them in order and march them from the building, as was their practice at fire drills.

Although the service of the fire apparatus from neighboring places had been promptly rendered, the engines arrived too late to save life and property.

The asylum held about 1,000 children. It was a long, frame, three stories high.

TREACHEROUS FILIPINOS.

War Department Receives Information of Unreliability.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—News has been received from the Philippines showing treachery by the natives who have been trusted and placed in prominent positions by the Americans. It is, however, occasions to surprise at the war department, as recent developments have convinced the officials it will be difficult to look for loyalty among the natives at this time. Secretary Root accepts the situation as another proof of more troops being needed in the Philippines. It is believed the reports will have the tendency to make the policy of the Americans much less lenient.

JOINT DEBATE.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 28.—A gentleman in this city who is thoroughly responsible, says that he will defend the expenses for a joint debate between the following Democratic speakers, which debate will take place in this city about the last of September: W. J. Bryan vs. John Young Brown; William Goebel against P. P. Johnson; Senator J. C. Blackburn against Theodore Hiram; Congressman Bettie against ex-Congressman Owens. The debate are to be conducted on the old style, and he is to defend the expenses of publishing the speeches in full of Bryan and Brown as advertising matter in a daily newspaper of general circulation. The gentleman proposes to deposit the necessary money with a Lexington bank as a guarantee.

OHIO DEMOCRATS.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 28.—Delegates are arriving at Zanesville for the Ohio Democratic convention, which meets in that town tomorrow. State committees will be selected at district meetings in the morning. The platform will endorse Bryan and the Chicago platform and denounce imperialism. There will be many contests before the credentials committee.

WEATHER AND RAINFALL.

The thermometer went to 100 degrees in the shade Saturday afternoon, but yesterday the maximum was 91. The rainfall was .89 of an inch.

EXPERTS

Several Writing Judges are Heard in the Dreyfus Case Today

AND THEY GREATLY CONFLICT

Court and People are Wearying of This Class of Evidence, Which is Not Reliable

DU CLAM TO BE EXAMINED

RENNES, France, Aug. 28.—The first session of the fourth week of the Dreyfus court-martial was opened at the usual hour this morning. The session was given over to handwriting experts, two of whom testified that Dreyfus was not guilty of the writing of the bordereau but that Esterhazy was the author of the documents. The experts seem to be deserting from the like rats would a sinking ship. The first sensation was caused when M. Charavoy took the stand. He was one of the experts at the original trial who then testified that Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. Charavoy furnished a great surprise when he announced to-day that he had now reached exactly the opposite opinion. Said he: "After examining the samples of Dreyfus' handwriting given me in 1894, I found resemblance between them and the writing of the bordereau. Later I saw some of Esterhazy's writing and when I had examined this thoroughly then I changed my mind as to the author of the bordereau. Now I believe that Esterhazy and not Dreyfus wrote it." This statement was received with great interest and caused a sensation in the court room. Expert Pelletier followed Charavoy with similar testimony, saying he was sure the handwriting of the bordereau was not Dreyfus' but that it was Esterhazy's. Expert Combarie denied that Esterhazy wrote the bordereau, but admitted, in reply to a question by the judge, that he had a faint pen and sometimes some words in the bordereau might have traced. Various other experts declared Esterhazy did not write the bordereau. Then court adjourned for to-day. The conflicting evidence has the effect of bewildering all expert testimony.

RENNES, France, Aug. 28.—Jouhaud, president of the Dreyfus court-martial, today continued to have Pety Du Clam, who is alleged to be back in Paris, examined by a special commission. M. Jouhaud also announced that Dreyfus, who resigned the portfolio of war in the Du Fay cabinet last May, would testify tomorrow.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

Henry Minnis Was a Surprised Darkey This Morning.

When the robbery case against Henry Minnis and Jim Ellis, colored, was called in the police court this morning, Minnis was somewhat surprised to receive an invitation from Judge Sanders to take the witness stand. He was asked if he had ever been in the penitentiary, and replied that he had not. He was then asked if he had ever been arrested before, to which he replied that he had lots of times.

The court then read a warrant issued against Minnis, alias Chas. Wilson, here last February on information furnished by Marshall McCord, of Kentucky, charging him with breaking into the house of Norman Lockett, at Henderson, and stealing $250 worth of goods.

Judge Sanders stated he remembered turning Minnis over to the Henderson officers. The prisoner admitted that he was the same man, but claimed that he came clear. It appears that there was a judgment pending against him in the police court here at the time, also, which was suspended when he was turned over to the Henderson officers on condition that he stay away from Paducah.

There is a printer named Monroe who is alleged to have witnessed the robbery for which Ellis and Minnis were arrested, taking two dollars from Will Mosely. He informed Judge Sanders soon after the occurrence, that he saw the darkey get the money, but the police have since then been unable to locate him. The case against the defendants was continued until tomorrow morning.

AT THE PARK.

A new play tonight will be presented, "Clam 76," is a realistic reproduction of western life, full of romance and fun.

Special feature of the performance will be a triple specialty by Miss Farrell and Messrs. Castello and Malone.

Two large and appreciative audiences witnessed yesterday's performance.

PUREYAR'S COURT.

Borace Powell, of Marshall county, will be tried this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Pureyar on a charge of breaking into the post-office at Calvert City last February.

CONSTABLE BARNES FINED.

He "Toted" a Pistol Out of His Backward Saturday.

Constable A. Barnes, of Marshall county, was in Parkin's saloon Saturday night with a pistol concealed in his pocket. Officer Colyer was up and down the street, and Barnes admitted having the pistol, but claimed that he was a constable. He was arrested and this morning was arraigned in the police court on a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon. He said he had it, and was fined $25 and sent to jail for 10 days. Judge Sanders said he disliked to have to assess the fine but it was the only thing left for him to do. No officer has a right to carry a concealed weapon outside of his own halliwick except in the immediate discharge of his duty. When the law was read the Marshall county constable tried to claim that he was over in McCracken looking for a negro, but the judgment was allowed to stand.

This case demonstrates the necessity for men elected to enforce the laws to know something about them. The constable will appeal to Governor Bradley for a pardon, but as the latter once refused a divorce county officer here for a similar offense under similar conditions, his chances do not seem to be very good.

BROWN IN WARREN

Valiant Old ex-Governor Pays His Respects to Opposition.

The Truth About the Effort to Get Him to Enter the Contest at Louisville.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., August 28.—Hon. John Young Brown, candidate for governor on the third ticket, opened his campaign here Saturday afternoon before a large crowd. Excursions were run into the city from the surrounding counties. Captain Ed L. Hines, nominee for secretary of state on the anti-Goebel ticket, introduced Mr. Brown at 1:15 o'clock in the circuit court room, which was crowded to the doors. Governor Brown was exceedingly bitter in denouncing the Goebel election law, and was frequently cheered. Mr. Brown said if the people would assemble in convention and nominate another ticket that he would withdraw. He was also very bitter as to what he said in regard to Christian Redwine. He created considerable enthusiasm among his hearers. A feature of Governor Brown's address was an emphatic denial of the story that he had sought the nomination for governor at the hands of the Louisville convention which nominated Goebel.

Governor Brown said that C. O. McChord and Urey Woodson had called on him at 3 p. m. on that day of their own accord and told him that the nomination of Goebel, which was inevitable, would mean the destruction of the Democratic party. Brown said he agreed with McChord and Woodson that Goebel would be defeated. McChord and Woodson then asked Governor Brown what he'd be doing.

Then they asked Brown what were his relations with the Courier-Journal. Brown said in reply W. H. Halldeman had the grip on the situation and that in his opinion nothing could be done to save the party.

McChord said he would go and see certain parties in hopes that something might be done. Brown said he told McChord "If the Courier-Journal is sincere in wishing for Democratic success and Bryan's success, it would be better for it to come back into the party with a victory than with defeat."

Brown said McChord left and did not return. He denied having written any letter asking for the nomination, or that he had asked for it by word or mouth from any man. He told of the confidence he had for years placed in C. O. McChord, and of what he had done for him. He also said Woodson owed him a debt of gratitude, but that if Woodson and McChord were now to be used as witnesses against him, he only wanted them to speak the truth.

He closed the incident by saying he had told the two that he would accept the nomination if a clean, honest majority of the delegates in the convention nominated him, but that he would never accept a fraudulent nomination. But he had not asked for it and would not take it unless it came honestly.

At the conclusion of Governor Brown's address McKenzie Moss introduced Colonel Hal Corbett. Corbett made an eloquent speech of thirty minutes, and the successful beginning of the real Democratic campaign came to a close.

SERIOUS ILLNESS.

Mr. Milt Dolson, the well known contractor for the new steamer Arctus, was laid up by a severe attack of illness while at work this forenoon and had to be brought home. At first it was thought he had been prostrated by the heat, but his physicians say he is suffering from malarial fever. He is better this afternoon, but is liable to have a severe spell of sickness.

REVOLTING

CASE SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Jose Compagnon Swore Out the Warrant Saturday Evening—In Jail.

A DIRK WAS FOUND ON HIM

L. A. Wright is the name of a man arrested Saturday night on a charge of rape. He resided on West Broadway, near Twelfth street, and the warrant against him was sworn out before Judge Sanders about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Miss Jose Compagnon, a daughter of the late Leo Compagnon, a well known gardener who for years lived near the Louisville road.

The story she told was most revolting. She is his sister-in-law, he having married her sister, and when her father died recently went to live with him. Friday night after she had retired he forced his way to her bed and threatened her if she dared deny that she was afraid of him, as an entree. She informed Judge Sanders always carried a dirk knife, and she had seen him sharpening it the day before. He overpowered her and accomplished his purpose, threatening to kill her if she exposed him.

Wright was arrested Saturday night, and the dirk knife was found on his person, and he was locked up. This morning the case was called against him in the police court, and continued until Wednesday. He is about 25 years old, and had been working as a farmer. He was committed to jail without bond.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Mayor Lang has called the council to meet tonight in called session. Prof. H. F. Lyon, one of the census enumerators, and the only one whose report was not in, returned yesterday and gave his list at about 1,800, the number estimated in last week's article.

The contract for completing the pumping station of the sewerage will be considered, also the appointment of Officer Frank Sneyd as overseer of the changing, and Officer Etter a member of the regular force.

YOUNG MANIAC.

Eddie Gordon Suddenly Becomes Insane, Near Sharpe.

Attempted to Kill His Parents—Overpowered by a Prasher.

Eddie, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. Frank Gordon, a well-known farmer of near Sharpe, Marshall county, suddenly became a raving maniac last week, and now has to be controlled by sheer force. There is no known cause for his sudden derangement, as he has not been ill, and there is no trace of hereditary insanity in the family.

The first his parents knew of his condition was when he attempted to kill them all with an axe. They were forced to seek refuge in the house and barricade the door, while the youthful madman waited outside with the axe.

Another son crawled out a rear window and ran over to the house of Rev. M. Pace, who hastily ran over and overpowered the boy before the latter knew of his presence.

He will probably be taken to the asylum immediately. He has to be watched continually and prevented from getting hold of anything with which to injure those around him. He still threatens to kill the members of his family.

ED SETTLE'S LATEST.

Ed Settle was arrested this morning on a charge of assaulting Lidy Gardner. It was not long ago that he returned from the penitentiary, after serving a term for chopping his wife's head open with an axe. He admitted to Judge Sanders this morning that he had served several terms at Edyville, and the court informed him that the first thing he knew he would be stepping on a platform that would give away and leave him peeping up a rope.

He pleaded guilty to beating the Gardner woman and was fined $20 and costs. Settle is a "bad, bad oon" and has been peddling coal oil for several months.

CAN'T BE FOUND.

Alex Thomas, colored, is wanted for a breach of the peace. He had a warrant sworn out for Dave Smith, colored, the other day, and was in turn warranted for a breach of the peace. This has resulted in his ceasing and failing to appear against Smith. The case was called by Judge Sanders this morning and continued until Wednesday.

The drought is causing Fort Worth, Texas, to suffer from a water famine.

BACK FROM KLONDYKE.

Judge Barry's Luck in the Gold Regions Was Bad

Judge E. Barry, of Benton, Marshall county, was in the city today a guest of Mrs. Giffert, in Mechanicburg, on route home from the Klondike. He had been absent for over a year, leaving home in February, 1898, as the head of a company organized at Benton.

Judge Barry pictures the Klondike much as scores of disappointed tourists have pictured it. His luck was not good, unfortunately, and needless to say, he is glad to get back to Old Kentucky.

Mr. Barry left the Klondike to escort to the states Captain McCormick, an English sea captain who had to leave on account of illness. Judge Barry's return was very unexpected, and even his family did not know it, he desiring to surprise them.

YESTERDAY'S BALL

Metropolis Club Beats the L. A. L's by a Narrow Margin.

A Tame Affair at Maxon's Mills Yesterday—Ober Club.

Quite a crowd of Paducah's rooters and fans went down to Metropolis yesterday afternoon to witness the game of baseball between the L. A. L's and the Metropolis Heralds. The Paducah crowd made so much noise rooting that the police threatened to run them in if they didn't desist. The score was 14 to 12 in favor of the Metropolis club. It is the fourth game they have played and yesterday is Metropolis' first victory. The club will play here next Sunday.

Good order was one of the noticeable characteristics of yesterday's game. Many ladies witnessed it.

The game between the Marble Hall's and the Maxon's Mills club, at Maxon's Mill yesterday was a rather slow affair. The Paducah crowd had a walk over, the score being 15 to 1 in their favor. They went and returned in a big wagon.

Officer Crow went out to the Banner grounds yesterday afternoon and broke up a baseball game between colored nines. They created a disturbance and had a fight or two before the officer arrived. Mayor Lang ordered the game stopped last week.

FOR HOUSEBREAKING.

Rudy Ingram's Case Heard and Left Open.

Rudy Ingram, a mulatto, was arrested last night on a charge of breaking into Mr. Geo. Backer's grocery at Ninth and Washington, and stealing a money box containing about $5. He denied the charge, but one man swore positively that he was the one who was seen to enter the store, and another identified him in the lockup, when he never saw him but once before, and that was while he was robbing the house.

Judge Sanders heard a portion of the evidence in the police court this morning and left the case open until Wednesday.

PARIS' BEEHIVE.

Anti-Semite French Still Defies the League Government.

PARIS, France, Aug. 28.—The police profess to have discovered a subterranean passage to Guehr's house on Rue Chabrol, through which food is conveyed to the blockaded party. The passage will be blocked.

Shopkeepers in the Rue Chabrol intend to protest to Premier Waldeck-Rousseau today that the blockade of the streets is ruining their business. They threaten to sue the republic for damages.

THE PLACE IS FIXED.

Jeffries-Sharkey Fight to Occur Before a One Day Fight.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Jeffries-Sharkey fight for the world's championship in later part of October is to take place before the Concoy Island Athletic club. This was learned today from those interested in the contest. For the sake of formality bids will be opened for the contest, but little attention will be paid to them at the present time. Jeffries is the favorite in the betting seven to five.

PORTO RICO'S DISTRESS.

Still a Great Need of Food, Clothing and Medicine.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—General Davis cables the war department that the period of destitution in Porto Rico will last until the new crops can be raised. He says the most pressing need is for food and that a million and half dollars worth is not too much. Other necessities are clothing and medicine.

REVOLUTIONISTS WIN.

NEW YORK, August 28.—San Domingo insurgents have secured control of everything, according to a message received today by local agents of the revolutionists. The message reads: "Revolutionists in the capital. The government surrenders."

MONDAY, AUGUST 28, 1899.

The Taylor and Brown buttons are what give the Goebelites complexion.

Mr. Bryan continues to say that the silver question will be the issue of the next presidential campaign. Is Mr. Bryan the Democratic party? It would seem he thinks so.

The state would be all right politically if it was not for the fact that Louisville and Covington are big parts of the state. Nothing good seems to come from either of these places.

"You can search me," was what Mr. Goebel said when charged with "flogging" a dagger while at Mayfield. The remark was said, most likely, if said at all, after disarmament had occurred.

The Goebel campaign is the opening skirmish of the Whitney, Croker, Gorman and Harrity forces. That the Goebel party indorses Bryan and his cause in national politics really counts for nothing. Gorman himself and Tammany, too, did that in 1896.

The Democracy of this country shouldn't be too strongly on the "Bull" they have on the representative's race. It has not been many years since this country was represented in the legislature by a Republican, and history may repeat itself.

The Goebel faction in Kentucky is saturated with what Bryan regarded in 1896 as political poison. It is the party of McKinley Democrats. And besides its political infidelity, it is morally rotten. What Tammany hall is to New York City, that is the Goebel faction the state of Kentucky.

The Dryfus trial may last twenty days longer, say some of the Reuters correspondents. Where will the court find enough liars to occupy this time? It has been thought for a week about all the French generals had been on the witness stand. Are some of the deposed ones to be brought back home?

The Ohio Democratic state convention meets tomorrow at Zanesville. A full ticket is to be chosen and the opinion is general that McLean, the Cincinnati Enquirer publisher, will be chosen for governor on the first ballot. The delegation is almost entirely an untrained one, most singularly, though there are several candidates for all the offices.

There has been much speaking throughout the state today, representatives of all the tickets being upon the stump. The Goebelites, it is safe to say, in opening their mouths did so to only put their feet in the opening. But it takes the gang to make the canvass interesting. There would be no cause for fire if there was not the Goebelites to furnish the game.

The Democratic party in the state will be broken up with entertaining the speakers which are to come into the state from other states. The Goebel papers say they are to come by hundreds, but that matters not, they will not be able to do any good. The die has been cast, and Goebel is not to be the next governor of the state. Honest politics are preferred in this state to party politics.

Why have not the Brown men, who claim to be the straight Democrats of the state, as much right to ask the Goebelites to step aside and save the party from defeat as the Goebelites have to ask the Brownites to do the stepping act? Of course this is not The Sun's right, but the paper would like to know the why in this little difference of opinion between the two wings of the wrecked Democratic party.

Saturday's Louisville Post had an editorial devoted exclusively to Congressman Chas. K. Wheeler. The Post takes from the Danville Advocate, one of Goebel's strong supporters, an extract which says: "We are confident that Mr. Wheeler and the cause of Democracy no good, and it is now not change his tactics the demand for the retirement of Mr. Redwine from the stump will be supplemented by a call for Mr. Wheeler's withdrawal also." And explains that Mr. Wheeler's tactics were attacks on the ministers who denounced Goebel's record, his defense of Goebel for killing Sandford, which was a new version, almost entirely, and an intimated if not direct charge that the public school superintendents are corrupt and have been bought by the school book publishers and that the teachers are as culpable as the superintendents—assaults on character of which the Post rightly says: "The Danville Advocate is right; Mr. Wheeler should be taken from the stump, and so should Blackburn and Lewis and a number of other orators of the Goebel school, on whose trail the Evening Post stenographer is camping."

What if Bryan and the thousand speakers from every state in the union come into Kentucky to talk for Democratic harmony, will it do good? Well, hardly; for the abuse, vituperations as it has been unjust, by the Goebelites relative to the Brownites will not be forgotten nor forgiven. There is no balm to heal the wound but the defeat of Goebel and his gang, and this must be their punishment say all honest Democrats. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Everybody Else had as well recognize this fact now as later, and at the same time they had as well understand that Kentuckians are honest in what they say and do whether right or wrong. Sink or swim, they go down on their rights always.

The Goebel papers are as silent as the grave as to the opposition among the state papers to the election of the Louisville "bulldozers" rackets. They print and reprint, however, what each says about the king, hoping by ignoring the other fellows that their readers at least will not be posted. But these Goebelites are not the only papers published; there are others just as numerous and just as good. These latter also circulate and are also read, and the people get the truth as it is going. The Goebelites are only showing the weakness of their cause by the way they handle the matter.

Ex-Archbishop Blackburn says the Goebel election law is worth twenty-five thousand votes to that eminent Covington automaton. Admit this for the sake of argument, and then Goebel will be defeated. The state the last election in round figures went Democratic by but 26,000. That Brown will get twice twenty-five thousand no sane man will deny, and with this lost what good will twenty thousand stolen votes do that is what Blackburn's honest, honest do the Goebel gang. The people and not the Goebel conspirators are to settle the approaching election.

Every fling made at the L. and N. railroad by the Goebelites is a fling at one of the state's greatest enterprises and the means of employment to thousands of the commonwealth's best people. These same flings are also state at all the railroads of the state and the employees of each and every one of them. There is no other explanation of these efforts of the Goebel gang to antagonize Democracy against railroads and their supporters. Thoughtful people will not foster but will rebuke such communistic ideas.

Yesterday's Louisville Dispatch contains a correct account of the Goebel-Sandford killing at Covington. The report the Courier-Journal published at the time of the sad occurrence. The Dispatch also prints some of the later day versions of the killing, which show how forgetful of facts or careless some people are with the truth. The Dispatch's publication makes very interesting reading just at the present time when those who are limiting for the truth would do well to read this issue of that paper.

The Lexington Leader comments upon the request of Editor Sommers, of the Elizabethtown News, that Judge Retlow be taken from the stump as an advocate of the Goebel ticket, and asks this pointed question: "If Retlow is all that Mr. Sommers and other Democrats say he is, how can they ask decent people to support a candidate produced in a convention dominated by such a man and such methods?" It is party fealty, don't you know, disgusting though it be.

When a newspaper says the agents of the L. and N. "are so persuasive" why don't that same paper tell how it knows this. If it has been tempted that is positive evidence, but if it has only hearsay testimony then it should know that this is not admissible evidence in any kind of court. Of course a unit or a newspaper has the privilege to say whatever it chooses, but the truth is the only thing convincing.

GOEBEL ABUSE OF PULPIT.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune. Mad-dened by the universal and outspoken opposition of the ministry to their candidate, the press satellites of candidate Goebel have opened their mud batteries upon the pulpit. There is a campaign rumor that has not yet been successfully refuted, that when the gods would destroy they first make mad. Evidently the Goebelites are on a heading rush to self-destruction. The church is not a political engine, but neither is it an engine that the politicians do well to attempt to butt off the track. This pulpit is given as a free-will offering to warn them against adding the sin of acting the fool to their thievery by fraud and robbery by force.

There are many plain American people—the majority of us are, in fact, plain American people—who have somehow imbibed the idea that under the provisions of the Federal constitution any man, though he be an humble minister of the gospel, has inherent the right of free speech, free choice of parties and candidates and perfect freedom of suffrage. These rights, it is true, are denied by the Goebel election law of Kentucky, the Goebel political machine and these Goebel henchmen. But—was it Mr. Bryan? Yes, Mr. Bryan—a fellow party man of Mr. Goebel has much stress upon the doctrine that governments must be based upon the consent of the governed. The people of Kentucky, the ministers, if you will, have not yet consented to the censorship of Goebelism. For that they are ungrateful by the Goebel fulcrum.

TRUST PROMOTER.

Brookings News. Goebel is the greatest trust promoter in the country. He would compel every man in the state who has a vote to cast it for him so he could control all the railroads, corporations and business in general, to be run according to his belated ideas.

A QUESTIONABLE TICKET.

The Tri-State Banner, of Bedford, Ky., a Democratic paper that carries the Goebel ticket at the head of its columns, with an interrogation point after every name, indicating a question as to its character and legitimacy, says in its last issue:

"The other day we received a letter from an old friend asking us to take the investigation works from the names on the Democratic ticket, and to render hearty, not perfunctory, support to the ticket. We will do so just as soon as we hear one self-respecting member say the Louisville convention was entirely on the square, and that Messrs. Stone and Goebel were entitled to all the delegates given them by the committee on credentials."

THEN AND NOW.

Commenting on the Goebel-Sandford tragedy on April 10, 1895, the Courier-Journal three days later said: "It would be profitable to moralize over the Covington tragedy. Such barbarism may be expected as long as lawbreakers and professedly law-abiding citizens violate the law by walking the streets prepared to do murder, as long as 'petters' is a slogan which incites its victims to personal crimination, personal vituperation and personal violence." Goebel, the lawbreaker, violates the law by "walking the streets prepared to do murder," and with him party seems to be a means which incites him to personal crimination, personal vituperation and personal violence." And yet the Courier-Journal has avowed to elect Goebel governor of Kentucky.

POOR AUTHORITY.

Wm. Henry Watterson, the distinguished editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal says that "The election of Mr. Goebel as governor of Kentucky is as certain as anything on this side of the moon." It will be remembered that Col. Watterson, in 1882, said that if the Democratic party nominated Mr. Cleveland for president it would be walking through a slaughter house into an open grave. And that in 1896 he said that Palmer and Thurman, the nominees of the gold standard Democrats, would poll 50,000 votes in Kentucky. The people know the result in both cases. Since the column has predicted the election of Mr. Goebel his opinion need have nothing to fear. The defeat of the Louisville nominee is now assured beyond a reasonable doubt.

THE GOEBEL CAMPAIGN.

Louisville Dispatch. Deception and abuse are to play the star roles in the campaign of the Goebel machine. Goebel continues to repeat his sham regulation of the Haldemans to the people, while the private understanding with the Louisville opponents of the Democratic party is maintained. Goebelites have endeavored to deceive the public as to Goebel's public record. They have attempted to put this candidate of the gamblers' this protector and beneficiary of the gambling interests, upon the pedestal of a saint. Goebelites have defended Goebel's part in the Sandford tragedy, and their statements as to the facts in the case have been far from accurate. Goebelites know that Goebel's methods will not bear the light of truth and publicity, and they dare not defend the Haldemans convention. They do this all Brown speakers. Since Sweeney floored McCrory, the order has gone forth that there be no more division of time. Goebelites confess that they fear the truth.

What it can not do by deception, the machine goes to accomplish by abuse. Men who dare to stand up for principle, who refuse to submit to force, fraud and treachery, who are opposed to domination of the Democratic party and the state of Kentucky by the Goebel-Haldeman alliance, are denounced as bolters and traitors to the Democracy by men who bolted the same conventions in the county and legislative districts, by men who antagonized every principle of the Democratic platform, by apostles, who are interested only in their own advancement.

Ministers of the different Christian churches who are in the present situation a great moral issue have been assailed with vile and vulgar abuse.

STORM AT EVANSVILLE.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28.—A severe storm visited this city Saturday. The wind's velocity was 35 miles an hour and the temperature dropped 25 degrees in five minutes. The wind did much damage to the trees, telephone wires and fences, while the deluge of water that fell flooded cellars, doing heavy damage to stocks of goods in mercantile houses. During the storm there was a constant electric display, and a number of people were shocked. For half an hour large hailstones fell, killing birds, knocking horses down and breaking window lights.

THE ALABAMA.

One of America's Most Powerful Vessels to be Tested.
Something About the Great War Engine Soon to Enter Service.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—From the yards of the Cramp company the battleship Alabama, the most powerful vessel of that class in the American navy, will go out today on a "baptism" trial trip. This voyage will last three or four days. The trial run will take place off the Delaware Capes and is intended to show how well the new battleship steams, whether her engines work well and, approximately, what her speed is. Those who have carefully watched the building of the Alabama believe she will have no difficulty in making sixteen knots an hour, which her contract calls for. In fact, the prediction is freely made that she will have something to spare in the matter of speed. The final trial will be made off the New England coast later in the autumn. October 2 is the date fixed for delivery to the government, but it may be two months later before the Alabama is turned over to the navy department, owing to the delay in delivering armor plate to the Cramps.

Capt. William H. Brownson, who is to command the battleship when completed, and who has supervised her construction; Lieutenant Commander E. V. Kane, who is to be her chief engineer; Lieutenant Harry Hall, assistant engineer; Assistant Naval Constructor R. H. M. Robinson, together with a number of the inspectors on board, will be aboard the vessel during the hullers' trial next week. United States Senator Tamm at this time Senator Crump, Representative Benjamin Adams, McAlister, Young and Harner, of Philadelphia, and Lieutenant, of New Jersey, have been invited by Mr. Cramp to accompany him. There will be no other guests.

Congress, on June 10, 1896, authorized the construction of the Alabama and two sister ships, the Wisconsin, which is now building at the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, and the Illinois, which is building at Newport News. The contract price for hull and machinery and fitting and securing the armor is $2,650,000. The Alabama's principal dimensions are: Length on load waterline, 365 feet; extreme breadth, 72 feet 5 inches; mean draught, 23 feet 6 inches; displacement at this draught, 11,525 tons. The Alabama's armament consists of four 13-inch breech-loading rifles mounted in pairs in two elliptical turrets on the middle line, one forward and one aft of the superstructure; fourteen 6-inch rapid fire breech-loading rifles, mounted in spaces on the casemate deck, and a secondary battery of sixteen 5-pounders and four 1-pounder rapid-fire guns, one on each gun and one field gun. There will be four torpedo tubes.

According to experts, the armor of the Alabama is the most complete ever put upon a battleship. It is of Harveyized nickel steel. The armor, 16 1/2 inches at the top of the belt, tapers to 9 1/2 inches at the bottom. In the turret the portholes are 17 inches thick, and the other plates 15 inches. In some respects the Alabama resembles the Iowa, though the new battleship is eight feet longer and several inches narrower than her predecessor.
